Be Prompt With Repairs and Prevent Serious House Damage

Some Advice on Home Maintenance.

Although few people realize it, the moment they move into a new house they are confronted with the problem of maintaining it against weather, time and changes in building trends.

The point on a new house will not always be too good or too heavy. The caulking around window and door frames may not be too thorough. The leaders and gutters may not be too well fastened into place at the eaves. Doors and windows will not be eased against the inevitable settlement and shrinkage that takes place in every new structure. Cracks in the plaster work, seams in the wall paper, drips in the faucets, and soot in the oil-burner, are as inevitable as tomorrow's sun. The unadvised homeowner may well be in a predicament, but the experienced individual will take these flaws in his stride. He is aware that as each weakness appears it must be taken care of immediately.

The large things which run into real money, such as a defective or improperly operating heating plant, usually will be adjusted by the firm which installed it. If the home owner gets no satisfaction from the local representative he will find that a complaint to the manufacturer will bring prompt and courteous attention. No reputable manufacturer wants dissatisfied users of his equipment. So when your home is equipped in the first place with good material and fixtures, you have the maintenance problem well in hand. Monthly inspections of the exterior of the house pay large dividends. If the average homeowner would spend an hour or two every week-end, or a half-day every month, going over the outside of his home carefully, and looking for the telltale indications of trouble ahead, he would reduce his upkeep and maintenance to a minimum. The small spilt in a piece of wood siding it promptly filled and painted will obviate the necessity of a new board a year hence. The shingle which is starting to curl if promptly nailed down will not need replacement next year. The metal work which shows signs of rust if sanded and painted at once will not be half rusted through by next summer. The large wealthy corporations take exceedingly good care of their buildings, equipment, and fixtures. They are efficient and business-like. The homeowner with the greater part of his life's savings in his home will do very well to follow their example.

Low Cost of Indirect Water Heating Shown

The low cost of heating water indirectly by means of the same boiler which heats the house has been disclosed by an investigation made by the Engineering Experiment Station of the University of Illinois. The tests were carried out in the I-H-R Research Home located just off the campus of the University.

An oil-fired boiler was used in the tests which extended over a period of two years. The boiler was used with an indirect water heater connected to a horizontal, insulated 30-gallon storage tank.

FIRST AID TO AILING HOUSE

—By ROGER C. WHITMAN—
DAMP WALLS

Q. We have a small, one-story house with no basement—just two-and-a-half feet between the ground and the floor. In order to keep warm, we had asbestos siding put on, had the roof insulated and put ventilators in the roof. We also put up storm windows and doors and ventilation beneath the floor. Our problem is that in very cold weather moisture gathers on the walls and around the woodwork on the floors and the storm windows freeze up and steam. How can we get rid of this moisture in the house? Two coal stoves heat the house.

A. Without a cellar it is possible that the cold air under the house chills the floor and gets into the spaces between the stud spaces of the walls, causing condensation, particularly in the lower portions. In addition to this, moisture from the ground may be aggravating the condition. If at all possible, coat the underside of the floor with liquid asphalt; then place a thick moisture-proof insulation between the joists, packing it well into the ends. Ventilate the kitchen when cooking and laundering. If pots of water are kept on the stoves for humidifying purposes, discontinue the practice. A cellar under the house and a more uniform distribution of heat in all the rooms undoubtedly would help minimize the trouble.

LINED-OAK FINISH

Q. How can I give oak wood a lined-oak finish?

A. The present finish (probably varnish) must be removed first with a varnish remover. Afterwards this should be cleaned off thoroughly with benzine, taking precautions against fire. Then paint the oak with a white or grayish compound. A paste filler mixed with turpentine to the consistency of heavy paint can be used. Brush this on liberally with the grain. In 20 minutes or so wipe it off across the grain with burlap or another coarse cloth. The result is to pack the pores with the compound. After time for drying, sandpaper lightly with fine paper. The compound recommending in the pores gives the light cast. If a heavy lined effect is desired, test of the paste filler is wiped off. Use clear varnish as a finish or shellac.

IVY ON BRICK WALL

Q. If I were to plant ivy so that it would climb on the brick walls of my house, would it do any harm?

A. It might make the walls damp; also the tendrils might work into cracks in the masonry.

HOMES FOR AMERICANS

ECONOMY of construction is exemplified in this house designed by Paul Hayden Kirk (Railway Exchange Bldg.), Seattle, Wash., for a small family. The exterior is clapboard siding. Shingles are asphalt. The American Builder magazine (105 West Adams St., Chicago 3, Ill.) points out that overall dimensions of 32x28 make the dwelling suitable for a small lot.

Assure High Quality Plumbing Equipment

To build the largest possible number of houses in the shortest possible time is the No. 1 objective of the construction industry and the plumbing and heating industries are making every effort to aid in this objective, says the Plumbing and Heating Industries Bureau.

Production of vitreous china plumbing fixtures has increased to the point where it is now approaching the highest production attained before the war or during the war, the Bureau says. Production of enameled cast iron plumbing fixtures is steadily increasing.

There is no sacrifice of quality in the fixtures now being made, the Bureau points out. The chromium plated brass with which plumbing fixtures are being fitted and trimmed is, in every respect, equal or superior to pre-war equipment.

BUILDING CONTRACTS HIT 17-YEAR HIGH

Construction contracts were awarded for 14,677 projects to cost $1,442,493,000 in the thirty-seven states east of the Rocky mountains in the first quarter of 1940, it was reported today by F. W. Dodge Corporation, fact-finding organization for the construction industry. This was the highest dollar volume shown for the first quarter of a year since 1928, and was 134 per cent greater than in the first quarter of 1935, when the dollar volume totaled $916,780,000.

The gains in home building were most pronounced. Residential contracts involving new building and alteration projects totaled $467,035,000 in the first quarter compared with $83,719,000 in the corresponding quarter of last year. The Dodge compilation showed that 67,115 dwelling units were called for in the first quarter contracts compared to 14,348 in the first quarter of last year.

Nonresidential construction volume, comprising 16,764 projects, reached $716,910,000 in the first quarter against $388,612,000 in the corresponding quarter of 1935. Public works and utilities contracts totaled $258,548,000 against $162,289,000 in the first quarter of last year.

HOUSE CONSTRUCTION VITAL FOR HEATING

One of the national trade papers in the heating and fuel industry recently asked the question: "Where are the greatest opportunities for improving heating results?"

Most of the heating experts who answered this question, says the Plumbing and Heating Industries Bureau, pointed out that the greatest opportunities for the improvement of heating results lie not in changes in heating equipment but in structural improvements in the house or building to be heated.

One of the experts said: "Is it right that we should keep thinking of improving the heating system? Is that what a homeowner wants? Or is it comfort that he wants without caring too much how it is accomplished?" The heating expert points out that there has not been enough cooperation between the building contractor and the heating contractor—too little realization that neither the building nor the heat-

Ventilating Fans Sink Important in Kitchen Plan

Prove Usefulness. The cracking pump and battery dispan of 50 years ago are today, says the Plumbing and Heating Industries Bureau. The sink, the Bureau points out, is the most important single piece of equipment in the kitchen. Since both food preparation and the use of the sink, more than half of the housewife's time in the kitchen is spent at the sink. Modern manufacturing "know-how" has evolved to many efficient types of sinks, that the housewife is able to select the most practical place for the fan would be close to the range. In the bath it would be most useful close to the tub. In the basement it should be located as far as possible from openings where air is drawn in, such as windows and doors, so that the fan will pull the air into the room and circulate it.

Fans can be mounted in the ceiling or walls, and some are available for mounting into window openings so that no structural changes are necessary. Some ventilating fans are now equipped with grease collectors in order that they may be easily cleaned. They can be adjusted to various speeds and are uniformly quiet in operation.

ing system are of value without the other. "Too many times," says the expert, "the heating system has been blamed for drafts resulting from loose fitting windows—the discomfort from which could never be overcome by additional heat. "Conversely, all improvements in the building construction cannot overcome the discomfort of improperly located registers. "Insulation, thermostat controls, automatic firing, storm win-

Fine Arts Day Display To Be of Interest To Men

MEN will find much of interest in the hobby corner which has been set aside for the display of their handiwork and collections at the annual community fine arts day to be sponsored by the Marion County Federation of Women's Clubs, May 7, at the Federation Home.

A new feature of the festival this year, it is expected that there will be a wide variety of exhibits and interesting articles owned and created by men and boys of Marion and the community.

By way of suggestion exhibits may include stamps, coins, guns, model airplanes and ship products, photography, woodwork, etc. Mrs. G. P. Hewitson, chairman, explains that a nice space is somewhat limited, only one or two coins or stamps or one album of a collection are exhibited to be accompanied by pertinent information such as the size of the collection from which the object is taken. The cards, aside from bearing the owner's name, should also give such information as to the material and technique used.

"C. O." CALLS FOR AID FOR FORMER ENEMIES

WASHINGTON, April 27—A young conscientious objector who underwent a six-months experiment in starvation yesterday urged the removal of a ban which prevents American relief organizations from shipping food and clothing to former enemy countries.

Charles Smith of Merchantville, N. J., one of the 35 young men who lived at the University of Minnesota on 1,500 calories a day about half the normal U. S. diet—told a senate judiciary subcommittee.

We want the people of Europe and Asia to resume their normal modes of life to be able to do a day's work and to think like a man, not a beast.

While Smith appeared to be fully recovered from the test, he argued the senators a ration of 1,500 calories a day saps an individual's physical strength and has an even greater psychological impact. (UNRRA has estimated the standard diet in Europe ranges from 800 to 1,500 calories daily).

Some of the human guinea pigs Smith said lost one-fourth of their weight. The ability to do physical work, he said, was decreased at least three-fourths and coordination was impaired markedly.

The psychological effects were the worst, Smith said. Each individual gradually tended to withdraw into himself, shun social companionship and even avoid being in the presence of normal healthy persons who did not know what he was like.

The main interest in life became the next meal. He recommended rehabilitating the people of former enemy countries by stepping up their diets at least 1,500 calories a day above what he called the starvation level of 1,500 calories.

The committee is considering an amendment to the trading with the enemy act which would permit relief organizations in this country to send food and clothing parcels to the defeated nations.

HAWAIIAN ISLANDS THEME OF BANQUET

Richwood Junior Class Entertains Seniors.

The Hawaiian Islands was the theme of the annual dinner given by the senior class of Richwood school by the junior class at Hotel Harding Tuesday night.

Carried out by the juniors under the direction of Miss Pauline Prichard of the school faculty and junior class advisor, the theme was emphasized by large relief maps of each of the Hawaiian Islands being used as centerpieces of the tables. The maps were of flour and set with a word base, were painted green and followed the general terrain of the islands. They were decorated with miniature palm trees, grass, shrubs, natives, and volcanoes.

The juniors accorded the seniors an official Hawaiian welcome when Tucker Smith of the junior class presented a lei, the traditional Hawaiian necklace of flowers, to Emma Shields of the senior class.

Curriculums of each of the seniors and some of the faculty, about 40 in all, drawn by Shirley Livingston of the junior class were hung in the mezzanine of the Hotel Harding.

Explorations of the theme of a talk given by H. R. Fisher, superintendent of the Richwood school John Wiley president of the junior class made a speech of welcome which was answered by William McAllister of the senior class. Three toasts were given by seniors Joy Haines, John C. Green, and John C. Green.

FARM LEADERS HIT OPA BILL

Grange and Bureau Heads Say House Too Drastic on Price Agency.

WASHINGTON, April 27.—Two farm organization leaders, President O'Neal of the Farm Bureau and Albert Grange of the National Grange, yesterday said the house was too drastic in trimming OPA's powers.

At the same time both urged passage of price ceilings for food and increasing production. The two appeared before the banking committee, considering the bill to OPA's file beyond June 30. O'Neal said the house "goes too far."

Grange said a good many provisions in the bill that are "unnecessary and that's not good."

Grange said a middle ground approach can be found, which "will be in the best interests of all of the nation," O'Neal said.

Makes Recommendations
The committee, which is considering legislation to extend price ceilings a year beyond June 30, said the new price control legislation should contain provisions for controlling prices.

Price ceilings should be maintained on items in short supply and price ceilings must be adjusted in order to bring forth needed production.

3. "Consumer subsidies must be eliminated in the price control program."

On this point, O'Neal said the farm leaders are demanding that the "federal treasury get out of the grocery business." He calculated that if subsidies were removed, "personal income taxes could be reduced 17 per cent" as a result of savings to the government.

4. "We must take steps to correct the basic causes of inflation through federal tax, budgetary, and credit policies so that in the near future detailed controls will not be necessary."

From Goss the committee received a statement saying: "There must be a general recognition that inflation can be controlled by production and that (price) ceilings can not be held below costs and still obtain production."

Other Grange Points
Goss also said:
1. That ceilings be abandoned when supply equals or exceeds demand, assuming prospects are for continued ample supply.

2. That rationing orders be invoked in the event of short supplies.

3. That the subsidy payments which the government grants processors to hold down retail food prices be abandoned progressively by the end of the year, with adjustment in price ceilings accordingly.

4. That no ceilings be fixed on farm products without the approval of the secretary of agriculture.

In order to tell more definitely just what effects the testosterone may have, a plan of treatment was started by Dr. Samuel Waldman of Brooklyn, in which the electrocardiogram or electrical tracing of the heart beat was used as a measure of improvement.

In carrying out this plan, the electrocardiogram was made in the usual way. Then each patient exercised by walking up two nine-inch steps, walking down the same number of steps and repeating.

After this exercise, an electrocardiogram was again taken. It was found that in patients with angina pectoris the exercise caused changes in the electrocardiogram.

For the first two months the testosterone was not employed. The patients were given sedative or quieting drugs, or nitroglycerine, which dilates or relaxes the blood vessels.

Following this period each patient was given an injection into a muscle of testosterone proportionate twice a week for a period of eight weeks. In addition, nitroglycerine was used whenever necessary to relieve attacks. At the end of this period of treatment the electrocardiograms were again made.

This plan was followed in studying 10 white men ranging in age from 45 to 58 years. Of the 10, seven showed definite improvement following the treatment. Of the three who did not, two showed evidences in the electrocardiogram that continued damage to the coronary arteries was taking place.

Hence, Dr. Waldman concludes that in those instances of angina pectoris in which continued damage to the coronary arteries is occurring the testosterone treatment may not be expected to give much help. When an acute attack occurs, the testosterone is not of value. For these acute attacks nitroglycerine is usually employed.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS
T. R. W.: My hands and my whole body quiver. Is there something that can be done to cure this?

Answer: It is not clear as to what is causing your trouble. It may be due to some nervous disturbance or some actual disease of the nerves. It is advisable that you have a careful study made by a neurologist if possible.

E. J.: What is diathermy? Will it give results?

Answer: Diathermy is a form of electrical treatment for producing heat deep in the tissues. It is helpful in clearing up certain types of inflammation.

Spring's sentence was suspended on condition that he make up what he had failed to pay and live up to the agreement in the future. Spring was brought here from Ashland, where he is employed, by a Marion county deputy sheriff.

JUDGE BLASTS OHIO CIGARET SALES ACT
By The Associated Press
CLEVELAND, April 27.—The constitutionality of a five-year-old Ohio law ruling that cigars may not be sold "below cost" was challenged today in a decision filed by Common Pleas Judge Charles J. McNamee.

Judge McNamee ruled yesterday the state unfair cigarette sales act violated the 14th amendment of the national constitution, which guarantees that states may not abridge the privileges of citizens of the United States, nor deprive any person of property without due process of law.

The jurist ruled that the Ohio law constituted discrimination without due process of law against Philip F. Price, owner of the Cigarette Service Co. and defendant in a suit filed by Walter G. Serrin, president of H. H. Serrin & Son. The plaintiff asked that Price be restrained from selling cigarettes to other dealers at $1.42, allegedly "less than cost of wholesale."

Price, a "cash-and-carry" dealer, should not lose his right to sell at lower prices, Judge McNamee ruled, unless his actions were damaging to public welfare. Some 21 other states have similar laws prohibiting sales of commodities at less than cost prices.

"CZAR" CHANDLER SENDS WORD HE'LL BE HERE FOR OPENER

'Happy' Slated To Team Up With Lausche on First Ball

By JIM DARRY

Local baseball officials are busy making arrangements for the visit of the "Czar" of baseball, A. B. "Happy" Chandler, and Gov. Frank J. Lausche will pay Marion Tuesday. The two will help Marion launch the 1946 Ohio State baseball league that night at 8 p.m. Judge W. Dexter Hazen has received official word that Chandler will arrive in Marion by car Tuesday afternoon. Arrangements are being made to take him to Hotel Harding for rest before game time at 8 p.m.

Immediately after the game he will entertain the American League players in an exhibition match at the university diamond.

Attempts to arrange an exhibition game with a local amateur outfit have failed so far. Manager Wally Lausche will divide his players into two teams and put on an intra-squad game Sunday at 2 p.m. at Lincoln park. The game is open to the public free.

He will introduce his team to Marion fans at the first annual baseball dinner at Maxwell Terrace Monday at 6:30 p.m. George M. Trautman of the Detroit Tigers will speak at the banquet.

Justice Hazen said the program included a welcome to Chandler and Gov. Lausche and a brief response from each of them. Then with the two guests of honor as the batter, the first pitch of the season will be delivered. Judge Hazen was uncertain which one of the two would be the hurler. League President Frank M. Kelley will be the plate umpire for the opening pitch.

Officials have announced that the game at Lincoln park will be open at 5:30 p.m. Tuesday and a "first come, first served" rule applies. Only box seats are reserved.

Snatches of Sports

By HUGH FULLERTON JR., AP Sports Writer

PHILADELPHIA, April 27—To put it bluntly, this year's Penn relay haven't been so hot thus far. That goes for the performances as well as the weather and if anyone is looking toward the 1948 Olympics on the basis of 1946 feats, he'd better start looking somewhere else. The only kids who really have shown anything are the sprinters, hurdles and weight lifters to it looks as if Uncle Sam would remain on the outside looking in when the international distance races are run a couple of years from now.

No Goldbricking
One noticeable feature of the relays has been the feats of boys just out of the armed forces. Ralph Tate, the Oklahoma Aztec hurdler, was wounded severely three times while fighting with the 83rd division. Ivy Kintlich and Bernie Mayer, the NYU weight lifters, both are just out of service and Tom Quinn, the two-mile winner, still is in the Navy.

An investigation of the death of welterweight Harvey "Lefty" Wells after a bout in Wilkes-Barre, Pa., has shown, according to the Pennsylvania athletic commission, that nobody was responsible. After four ring deaths this year, it seems that somebody should be made responsible for making sure that boxers are in good health before they're allowed to fight. The University of Detroit football team likely will set some sort of travel record next fall when it plays Holy Cross at Worcester, Mass. Oct. 5, at San Francisco Oct. 13 and then goes home to meet Tulsa Oct. 18. Back in 1936 the Athletics advertised in mid-summer "All ladies are cordially invited on Thursday." By September they were invited "every day this week." Maybe that's a hint for the 1946 Athletics.

HARDING TO BATTLE CALEDONIA THINNIES

Rural Stars Coming Monday; Ball Game Called Off.

Harding's track squad will be taking for its first win of the season Monday when the Pirates visit Caledonia here. Caledonia was wiped out by Pleasant in the quadrangular track meet among county league schools April 12.

Coach George H. Ford said he expects a better showing Monday than in previous meets against Richmond and Pleasant where the team was badly defeated.

Norm, lead fella in the district league, Caledonia in the shot put and German in the 220 yard run are showing much improvement. None has had much track experience but should set some good records with a little more practice.

All events except hurdles and pole vault will be run Monday.

Harding was scheduled for a baseball game with New Bloomington Monday at Lincoln Park, but the contest has been cancelled, reportedly at the request of New Bloomington. The game had previously been delayed because of sickness at the rural school.

White Sox Jump on Feller as Indians Drop to Sixth

By JOE REICHLER, Associated Press Sports Writer

Baseball fans were wondering today whether blaring Bob Feller with that wampash for a night arm, had not let some of his blaring speed in the high seat where he served a major part.

Now that the Cleveland Indians' breather hasn't been blowing up his share of strikeouts. As a matter of fact, Feller fanned a respectable total of eight yesterday to run his string to 23 in three games.

Most pitcher's men in the league are expected to catch between 25 and 30 strikes this year. Feller dropped two of his three starts including yesterday's defeat by the Chicago White Sox of all teams.

The Sox, who usually tell over and play dead yesterday, were shaded by the Indians, who gave him a beating, actually welcomed his appearance yesterday and gave him a roaring salute in their home town. Feller gave up four runs and four hits in the fifth frame of the game.

Boodreau Purred
Coming on top of his defeat by the Sox last Sunday, the second straight setback, while not looking too Boodreau any longer, he at least brought another win to the Tribe.

Heard Feller has found the Tribe and White Sox his latest dream. In less than six complete seasons, he has been twice in the 20 runs above or more times than any other team.

Even after he blanked the White Sox with three hits opening day, Chicago's Tim Lincecum, who pitched against him for five years before the war, remarked that he thought Feller was not as fast as he used to be. Following the Sox's spring training performance against the New York Giants, Manager Mel Ott went on record as saying that Feller didn't have the speed of pre-war days.

Taking advantage of Feller's one bad inning, Chicago's Joe Haynes, who picked a steady game for the Sox, registered his first victory of the season. He pitched a 9-0 victory over the Indians, who already had won the Polo grounds five times over a two-year span, closing the Giants down to his size with a neat nine-inning. Manager of the Indians however, launched an official protest following a dispute over an umpire's ruling.

The Cards kept pace with the Dodgers by shading the Pittsburgh Pirates, 3-2, as Fred Martin, the better of the pitching argument with Detroit's Virgil (Fire) Trucks.

Brooklyn's Dodgers, leading the St. Louis Cardinals by a half game in their merry race for first honors in the National league, stretched their winning streak to eight games by knocking over the Giants for the fourth straight time. The Cards again little Victor, who already had won the Polo grounds five times over a two-year span, closing the Giants down to his size with a neat nine-inning. Manager of the Indians however, launched an official protest following a dispute over an umpire's ruling.
